

COLIN

Connecting Your Lecturers with Teaching Opportunities in Germany

The Baden-Württemberg Cooperative State University (DHBW) is proud to introduce COLIN, a new platform that opens the doors to international teaching at DHBW for lecturers from partner universities worldwide. COLIN was created to connect academic professionals with short-term teaching opportunities at all DHBW locations and to strengthen global academic exchange. By simplifying access to relevant programs and offering direct communication channels, COLIN empowers your lecturers to teach abroad and gain valuable intercultural and professional experience.

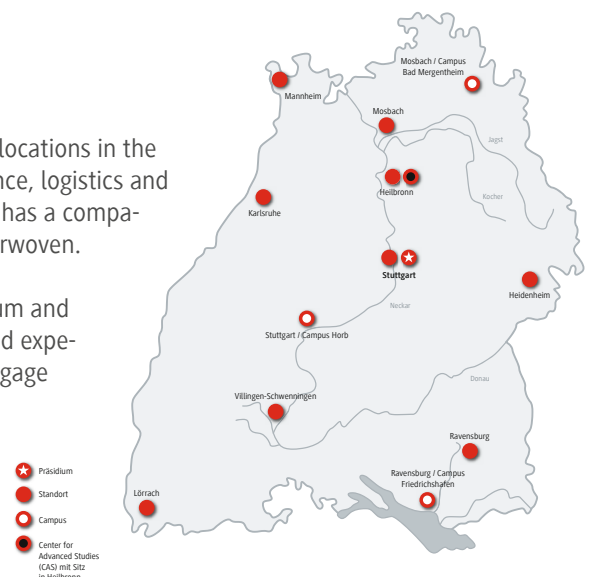

Benefits of COLIN for Your Lecturers

- Wide Reach: Access to current teaching vacancies across all DHBW locations.
- No Intermediaries Involved: Direct application to study programs.
- Professional Development: Opportunity to gain international teaching experience.
- Intercultural Exchange: Engage with diverse student groups and German academic staff.
- Experience in Applied Learning: Insight into Germany's dual education model.
- Completely Free: No platform or participation fees. Just teaching, connecting and growing.

About us

DHBW offers a wide variety of practice-integrated study programs at nine locations in the southwest of Germany – from business and engineering to computer science, logistics and health. What makes DHBW unique is its dual study concept: each student has a company partner from day one, ensuring that theory and practice are tightly interwoven.

Our programs actively seek diverse academic voices to enrich the curriculum and offer students international perspectives. Guest lecturers will gain firsthand experience in applied learning, contribute to innovative course content, and engage with motivated students in a dynamic learning environment.

Contact

Hande Kaymak
Project Manager InCoMIn

Tel.: +49 621 4105 1359
hande.kaymak@dhbw.de

Head of Project InCoMIn
Prof. Dr. Martin Kornmeier

Project Coordinator InCoMIn
Ralf Geissel

<https://www.colin-dhbw.de>